SCHLEY AND SAMPSON

Will Both be Promoted, And No Deserving Man Will be Overlooked.

A Washington dispatch to the New York Herald is as follows:

Full and complete recognition of meritorious and gallant conduct displayed by American officers and men during the existing war is to be given by President McKinley.

That there may be no just cause for complaint that the Navy Department has overlooked any meritorious cases, Secretary Long proposes to appoint a board of ranking naval officers, which shall carefully investigate the numerous cases brought to its attention, and report the officers and men to be advanced for heroic services.

The officers who are to constitute the board have not yet been selected. It is regarded as probable, in naval circles, that it will consist of several line officers of the grades of Rear Admiral and Commodore and one representative of the other corps. It is not intended that the board shall pass upon the conduct of officers of the grade of flag rank or captains. The President and Secretary Long will do that.

From present indications the President will promote both Commodore Schley and Acting Rear Admiral Sampson in the order named. So far during the present war the only officers whose work has been officially recognized are Rear Admiral Dewey and the commanding officers of the vessels of his fleet.

A GIGANTIC TASK

For the United States Military and Naval Forces if We Occupy the Philippines.

An interesting question and one of vital importance to the Administration is the attitude to be assumed by the United States toward the Philippine insurgents in the event that we reach an agreement for the suspension of hostilities with Spain. It is stipulated in our peace terms that the United States military forces shall occupy and establish a military form of government over the city of Manila and the bay with the surrounding territory. This involves an immediate surrender of the Spanish forces, not to Aguinaldo, but to General Merritt, and there is some apprehension that the insurgents will resent this very bitterly, and that it will be necessary to expel them forcibly from the territory desired. Beyond this, it is said in some quarters, that pending the decision of the Peace Commissioners as to the future of the Philippines the United States will be morally bound to maintain the statu quo in the islands at large.

In other words, having deprived Spain of the means of resisting the onslaughts of the insurgents, it has been urged that the United States would be bound to prevent the latter from continuing their warfare. There is a lack of information in Washington on many important points as to the conditions in the Philippines. For instance, it is not known even approximately how extensive the revolutionary movement has been in the vast group of 1,200 islands and among the large population, estimated to aggregate between 8,000,000 and 15,000,000. If the revolutionary movement is general and extends to many of the islands, the task presented to the United States military and naval authorities will be one of great magnitude in the event that it is decided to be incumbent upon us not to restore Spanish sovereignty where it has been lost, but to prevent its overthrow in sections where it is still supreme and to prevent excesses and outrages at the hands of the insurgents.

HORSE FLESH

Is Selling at One Dollar Per Pound in Havana.

Accounts of the condition of affairs in Havana, Matanzas and Cardenas were given by passengers of the steamer Fridtjof Nansen, from Sagua, says a New York telegram. She brought 29 refugees, most of whom were Spaniards, who had made all sorts of sacrifices to escape from the island in anticipation of its becoming controlled by the insurgents. One woman, who had reached Sagua by rail from Havana, said:

"There is plenty of money, but of what use is it when it will hardly purchase anything? It is impossible to get beef at any price, and even horse flesh costs $1 a pound. Bread costs 28 cents a pound, and is very bad at that, and eggs, which are brought in from the country in small quantities, cost 35 cents each. The supply of condensed milk is practically exhausted, and the little left is sold at $2 for a can such as you buy here for 10 cents."

"On an average, 10 to 12 persons are found dead of starvation in the streets every day, and this takes no account of the scores who daily die of hunger in the houses. No words can describe the horrors of Los Fossos, the place at the foot of the Prado, where the wretched reconcentrados are herded together. I was told that there were no less than 4,000 of these miserable people in the place when I came away, and they are dying by hundreds; for, of course, nothing is being done for their relief, when the government has not enough food for its own soldiers. Worse than this, the officials beat and abuse them shamefully."

FOR CONGRESS—10TH DISTRICT.

THE PRESIDENT AND THE PHILIPPINES

In an official statement the President has made his position clear regarding the question of the Philippines. The terms of peace offered to Spain were the immediate relinquishment of her authority over Cuba, Porto Rico and the other Spanish islands in the West Indies, the formal cession of Porto Rico and the other islands (except Cuba) to the United States, and the cession of an island in the Ladrone group. Cuba, by the terms of the original ultimatum to Spain, is to have a chance to set up a government of its own if it desires, or to declare for annexation to the United States, the United States to keep an army of occupation in the island in any case until the choice is made, and to guarantee stable and orderly government if the Cubans decide to try a separate existence. No demand for pecuniary indemnity is made at present.

These are the terms, now for the first time officially made known to the country, which are exacted of Spain in the case of the islands on the American continent. By far the most interesting part of the terms, however, relates to the Philippines. The United States will hold Manila, the bay and city, until the conclusion of a treaty of peace, which shall decide the question of the future control and government of the entire Philippine group of islands. This treaty is to be made by representatives of the United States and of Spain, no other country to have any part in framing it. This statement of the terms relating to the Philippines differs from the unofficial summaries in the respect that the United States does not give up its claim to any part of the group. The United States will hold Manila and vicinity in any case until the peace treaty is arranged, and this treaty is to determine whether the United States shall surrender any of the Philippines or not.

This disposition of the case means that the entire Philippine group will be made American territory. Public sentiment will force the United States commissioners to stand out for the immediate relinquishment of Spanish authority over every island in the Philippine archipelago. This sentiment is making itself felt now in the expressions of the leading papers of all parts and all sections, and in avalanches of letters and telegrams to the President. The United States representatives on the peace commission will learn the temper of the people before that body gets a chance to meet, and they will respect it. This country is not going to give up its advantage in the Philippines. It can capture Manila at any time. The conquest of the whole group of islands can doubtless be finished in eight or ten weeks at the farthest. All the conditions are favorable to the Americans. The other side lacks supplies of all sorts, and has not a single vessel, unarmed or armed. No peace treaty has any chance of acceptance by the people of the United States except one which puts and keeps every island in the Philippine group under the American flag.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A GREAT many of the farmers from all sections of the State have decided that it is better to keep their wheat and place it on the winter market than to sell now. For several years they have been selling just after the threshing, when wheat was cheap, to large corporations, which have reaped the benefit of the winter market— invariably much higher. It now seems, however, that they have been taught a lesson that will be profitable to them. We can not see it in any other light than that farmers will make no mistake in holding their wheat for the winter market. From present indications the price of wheat will be higher this fall than last. The crop from the Southwestern States is very bad, having been damaged by rust. Some of it, therefore, will not produce enough to pay for the cutting, while at other places also the smut is very bad. Reports from abroad show that the foreign crop is not up to the standard. Spain, one of the best of the foreign wheat countries, will not raise more than half its usual wheat crop. The demand will be larger than usual. The amount of wheat that will be consumed by our army and our southern allies will, to a large extent, influence the market, and the farmers consider that it will be far better for them to receive the benefit of that advance than for some corporation to receive it. This is the way they look at it, and they are acting accordingly. —Nelson Record.

RELIABILITY

Is a quality some newspapers have lost sight of in these days of "Yellow" Journalism. They care little for the truth and a great deal for temporary sensation.

It is not so with THE DISPATCH. The success of THE DISPATCH rests upon its reliability. It prints the news—all the news—and tells the truth about it.

ITS WAR NEWS SERVICE can not be excelled. It is gathered by forty-two war correspondents and eight fast dispatch boats at the seat of war, and a salaried correspondent in every important city in the world.

The most critical period of the war will be during peace negotiations. Get the paper that tells the truth.

Our motto: If you see it in The Dispatch it's so, and if it's so it is always in The Dispatch.

THE DISPATCH news service is now furnished by the New York Sun, The Chicago Inter-Ocean, The Northern Press Association, The Leslie Syndicate and a staff of correspondents in Kentucky, Tennessee and Indiana second to none on a Southern newspaper.

We club with The Weekly Louisville Dispatch; both papers one year for the low sum of SOME ministers hold up as an awful example the young lady who dropped dead last week while dancing at Kansas City, and attempt to use this as an argument against dancing. Over in Illinois an aged minister dropped dead while in the act of giving the blessing. Out in Michigan a woman died at the mourner's bench. In Kansas, a preacher died as he closed a prayer; and yet no one comes forward with an argument against these things. Death is liable to come to us all, whether dancing, praying, singing, asleep or awake. It is the inevitable destiny of humanity. No time or place is secure against his visitation. We do not believe that God selects the place nor the circumstances. Death comes from natural causes. The human body is like a machine, liable to get out of repair or break down without warning. There is no retribution, no interposition of Providence with a view of making an example to influence others. We come into the world, we live and flourish for a time, then like the flowers that bloom we wither and decay, and mingle with the dust from whence we came. That is all. The flowers come again, and we have hope of another life hereafter.

About one month ago my child, which is fifteen months old, had an attack of diarrhea accompanied by vomiting. I gave it such remedies as are usually given in such cases, but as nothing gave relief, we sent for a physician and it was under his care for a week. At this time the child had been sick for about ten days and was having about twenty-five operations of the bowels every twelve hours, and we were convinced that unless it soon obtained relief it would not live. Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhea Remedy was recommended, and I decided to try it. I soon noticed a change for the better; by its continued use a complete cure was brought about and it is now perfectly healthy.—C. L. Boggs, Stumptown, Gilmer Co., W. Va. For sale by J. T. Day.

Put Your Finger on Your Pulse

You feel the blood rushing along. But what kind of blood? That is the question. Is it pure blood or impure blood? If the blood is impure then you are weak and languid; your appetite is poor and your digestion is weak. You cannot sleep well and the morning finds you unprepared for the work of the day. Your cheeks are pale and your complexion is sallow. You are troubled with pimples, boils, or some eruption of the skin. Why not purify your blood?

Ayer's Sarsaparilla will do it. Take it a few days and then put your finger on your pulse again. You can feel the difference. It is stronger and your circulation better. Send for our book on Impure Blood.

If you are bilious, take Ayer's Pills. They greatly aid the Sarsaparilla. They cure constipation also.
